

Center For Community Analysis

New Mexico State University

(Year Established)

Providing Community-Based Research, Data Analysis, and Evaluation in New Mexico.

Our Research

The Center for Community Analysis at New Mexico State University was established in 2016 to provide community organizations and government agencies with high-quality data.

Our research focuses on education, health and community well-being, birth-to-career initiatives, population and demographics, poverty and income equality, and social equity.

Together we can improve evidence-based decision making in New Mexico.

BE BOLD. Shape the Future.
